A Will and a Way

The Mysterious Woman Who

Could Neither Read Nor Write

By BELLE MANIATES

Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

"His ruling passion was strong in death," remarked Jules Lorne

whimsically as he learned the contents of his father's will from his father's lawyer. "He knew that I would not comply with the terms of so atrocious a will to marry a woman who could neither read nor write."

"You have a year of grace," reminded Coyle.

A year later Jules appeared at the office of the family lawyer.

"My leave is up, Coyle," he reminded.

"And I think I have found a way by which you can fulfill all conditions and still retain your freedom. You can marry a woman who can neither read nor write, and immediately after the ceremony you can go abroad. At the expiration of two years she can quietly secure a divorce. You can spare a generous alimony. I have met a good, conscientious girl who is perfectly willing."

"Is she a domestic?"

"No; I believe she does needlework."

"It's odd in these days of schools and trust officers that she escaped

the alphabet at least."

"She says she never has had the opportunity nor the desire to learn. I will arrange all details for you."

After some further discussion Jules accepted the proposition, and at dusk

of the appointed day he rang for admission to Coyle's residence. The lawyer met him in the hall and ushered him into a dimly lighted library where a minister and Henry Phillips, Jules' next friend, were in waiting. They all went into the reading room adjoining.

Near the doorway Jules paused and looked into the room, which was in total darkness.

With an odd sinking of the heart

Jules took his position beside the shadowy form of a woman. He made the responses in a quick, jerky way, anxious to end the affair. The woman at his side spoke in nearly inaudible tones.

When the sentence of man and wife was pronounced Jules returned to the library and hastily signed some papers

Coyle gave him.

"Where is my wife?" he then asked.

"She remained in the reading room."

The young bridegroom hesitated.

Then resolutely he turned and went back into the reading room. His eyes, now accustomed to the gloom, discerned her at the end of the room. She was sitting on a couch, her face buried in the cushions. One arm hung list-lessly over the edge.

"May I speak with you?" he asked courteously.

She did not lift her head from the pillow.

"I want to thank you," he continued,

"for the service you have rendered me."

She murmured a disclaimer of his thanks. He took her hand. It was still cold and trembling. His grasp, firm and sustaining, lightened.

"I am sorry," he said firmly, "that you will not see me, but I want you to promise me that if you ever need help or advice you will come to me."

"I will," she said softly.

"Lorne," called the warning voice of Coyle from the doorway.

"I must go now. Good night."

He went to his lodgings and tried to smoke away the burden of his thoughts. The shadowy outlines of the tall, drooping figure and the low tones in which she had spoken haunted him all night.

"I suppose her motive was as mercenary as my own, so I don't need to reproach myself."

The next day he was leaning against the railing of the steamer, idly watching the scenes upon the wharf, when he saw Phillips making his way toward a young girl who was daintily petite in form and lovely of face and feature. She was accompanied by a middle aged woman.

"You must look after Miss Derrinton, Jules," cautioned Phillips as he was taking leave of them all a few moments later. "Her aunt has the stateroom habit, she tells me."

Jules scarcely heard him. He was looking into the wonderful eyes of the young girl. An hour later Mrs. Marshall had fulfilled the prophecy regarding the stateroom and Jules had joined Salome on deck.

"You don't seem a stranger to me,"

she said. "I have come to know you through your looks."

There followed a long and animated discussion of books and authors until dinner time.

"She is a darling," Jules told himself as he lay in his berth listening to the rhythmic measures of the engines that night.

The voyage passed in a succession of days of sparkling sunshine. Mrs.

Marshall remained perforce in solitary confinement, and Jules was constantly with Salome, who grew fairer radiant with happiness. He came to have an odd feeling at times, as if in some pre-existence she had belonged to him. Then his new fancy would be succeeded by the mystic charm of the other.

Early in the morning of the last day of their voyage he came out on the afterdeck. Salome was already there.

As she turned to him he saw a shadow of sadness in her eyes.

"This is our last day," she said in a low tone.

"Yes, and I am sorry," he replied simply.

"I wish you were coming with us—to the north of England."

He did not reply at once.

"It can't be," he argued to his troubled self. "It is only the first fluttering fancy of a young girl—the fancy of an older man and one who writes.

I shall not see her after we land. Still, in a young, romantic girl's heart affection sometimes flourishes in absence. I should tell her. I will."

"Salome"—the name slipped out unconsciously—"I should have told you before, but I disliked to talk about my personalities. I am married."

He then briefly related the circumstances of his marriage.

"Before the ceremony," he concluded, "I had considered only my part in the affair. I was narrow enough to think that because she had been denied certain advantages a little money would recompense. It may have been great need for herself and others that forced her to this step. At any rate,

I should have talked the matter over with her. I am going to return to New York if she wishes and have the marriage annulled."

He glanced at her for the first time during the recital. His heart leaped to life. In her eyes was an exquisite softness. A slight moisture dimmed her lashes. She held out her

Hidden Riches of Sonoma Mountain.

Sonoma Mountain west of this valley is just now attracting attention. It is known that coal exists there from surface indications and oil experts are of the opinion that some day the base of the mountain on both sides will be converted into a veritable oil field.

Personal Mention.

Mr. J. J. arrived at his ranch on the 14th Thursday night, after an absence of several months from Los Angeles. He notes many improvements in the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Turner, at their pretty ranch home near Shellville, entertained Mrs. Eastland, Mrs. Dick Watt and Mrs. Tittle on Sunday last. Mrs. Turner is a royal cook, as all will testify who have sat at her hospitable table.

From a recent letter written by his brother at Peubla, Colorado, Dr. Eastland learns that the storms of winter, flying sleet and snow prevail there, while here we are eating green corn, cantaloupes and strawberries. So much for sunny California.

A Sale Without Parallel.

The attention of our readers in this valley who trade in Petaluma, and there are many of them who do, is called to the big advertisement of the Red Front Store, which announces a sacrifice sale of $20,000 worth of merchandise, consisting of fine dry goods, ladies' shoes, etc., at a ruinous reduction, in some cases being one-half cost price. Other articles will be sacrificed at wholesale prices. As the sale will close in a few weeks it were well that the Sonoma Valley patrons of the Petaluma stores visit the Red Front when in that town and see for themselves.

A Lively Day in Judge Small's Court.

Thursday was a busy day in Judge Small's court, five cases being disposed of. Christopher Thompson was fined $15 for disturbing the peace of the denizens of El Verano by using vulgar and profane language. The offender was arrested on complaint of G. Steckmeyer.

Three women were also held to answer to a charge of trespass and a fourth was fined $20 for beating the three women mentioned above whom she caught trespassing upon her property.

Excursion Rates to the Portola Festival.

The Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company, with characteristic liberality, in order to give the people of this valley an opportunity to attend the Portola Festival in San Francisco with the least expense possible, announces in these columns a generous excursion rate for this occasion. This rate will be one fare and a third for the round trip from any station in this valley. Tickets will be sold at that rate from October 16th to October 23d, inclusive, and they will be good for the return trip any day up to October 25th. A large number of our people will take advantage of this liberal rate of the Northwestern Pacific.

New Advertisements.

The attention of our readers is called to the following new ads, which appear for the first time in this week's issue:

Red Front Department Store in Petaluma, which is offering some great bargains.

Eastland's Yellow Front Drug Store, Sonoma, which advertises the Fireside New Model Edison Phonograph for $22.00 only on easy terms.

Money to Loan, which you can find all about by addressing P. O. Box 62, Sonoma.

Notice to Creditors, estate of Mrs. Maria Tate, deceased. If you have claims against this estate you must present them at the law office of Robt. A. Poppe in four months from this date.

WORN OUT HORSES

Bought and Sold.

I want your worn out horses, for which I will pay the highest cash price.
GEO. B. CARPENTER,
Petaluma road three miles south of Sonoma.

Discovery Day.

Tuesday was a legal holiday in commemoration of the discovery of America by Columbus on October 12, 1492. It was not generally observed as the public schools here did not close and all places of business remained open except the Sonoma Valley Bank, which took advantage of the holiday in order to legalize all business transactions coming its way.

Knights of Columbus Donate

Santa Rosa Council, Knights of Columbus, at its meeting held on Tuesday night, donated $25 toward repairing the old Mission building in this place.

To Take in Johnson - Ketchel Fight.

A number of local sports left on this morning's train for San Francisco to take in the Johnson-Ketchel championship bout at the Mission street arena this afternoon.

Brevities.

Large crowds from this valley will attend the Portola Festival. The S. F. daily Chronicle and Index-Tribune $9 a year for both papers.

Lawn in Plaza Making Fine Growth.

The lawn in the Plaza, which was seeded a few weeks ago, is making a fine growth and will soon be a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Ex-County Surveyor Press Davis, who conceived the idea and surveyed the plot and the Woman's Club, who put the idea into practical shape by raising the necessary funds and inaugurating "Plaza Day" together with Mayor Breitenbach and his fellow members of the Board of City Trustees, deserve much credit for the improvement.

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

Given Away.—Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, new revised Edition, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Subscribe for the Index-Tribune and Chronicle. Only $9 a year for both papers.

Eph. Weiss, the expert refractonist and optician of San Francisco, will be in Sonoma at the Union Hotel, Dec. 2nd.

District Attorney Clarence Lea was here from Santa Rosa Thursday, the occasion being "ladies day" in Justice Small's court.

A. S. Luce, Sr., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Luce Jr. of this place Thursday evening. He returned to his Santa Rosa home Friday afternoon.

As we go to press late Friday afternoon it looks like rain and our vineyardists whose grape crops are still upon the vines are hustling some these days to get their grapes to the wineries.

L. La Motte of the Villa, El Verano, and Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan will be present this afternoon at the ringside to witness the heavy weight championship battle between Johnson and Ketchel.

M. J. Hibbard, special agent of the Continental Building and Loan Association of San Francisco for nine consecutive years, after following other pursuits the past three years, has again entered the service of the association.

Edward Hyatt, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will please accept the thanks of this office for a copy of the "School Law of California." It is a valuable book of reference not only for school trustees and teachers but for the parents of school children as well.

Work on the new stone bridge across Nathanson Creek on Second street East is progressing satisfactorily. Wm. Trudgen, who has the contract for building the bridge, is rushing the work with a full force of men and expects to have it completed before the rainy season has well set in.

The Martononi building on Napa street, occupied by the Postoffice and the merchandise store of P. Boccia, which has been beautified by the addition of another story, has been finished by Contractor MacQuiddy. It occupies a prominent corner and is one of the handsomest buildings in town. The upper story will be let for offices.

High Class Theatrical Troupe.

The Metropolitan Stock Company again held forth here this week, playing to crowded houses Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. This company is by far one of the best theatrical troupes that has ever entertained the people of Sonoma, and its coming is always hailed with delight by local lovers of the drama. To mention any particular one of the actors in this company as being good, would be doing an injustice to the others. They are all clever and well up in their profession.

SONOMA'S FLOWING

ARTESIAN WELLS.

They Number Nearly a Dozen and Several are "Gushers"

Another One Has Been Developed.

It is not generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact, that the flowing artesian wells of Sonoma which number about a dozen, half of which are gushers, if united would make a small river.

These wells are located north of Spain street and vary in depth between 150 and 200 feet only. Among these wells we may mention as being the principal ones the Vallejo, Schocken, Weyl, Aguilon and the Lawrence Villa. These wells are all gushers and flow a considerable distance above the ground. Of this group of artesian wells the Vallejo is the only one that has been fully developed for public use and supplies the mains of Sonoma's water system with an abundance of the finest water in the world for domestic purposes.

The latest flowing artesian well to be developed is in the Aguilon orchard north of the Northwestern Pacific railway depot, where flowing water was struck one day last week by D. Volquardsen's well-boring outfit at a depth of 210 feet. This well is located on elevated ground and flows three feet above the surface. It will be used by the Aguilon heirs for irrigation purposes and will greatly enhance in value their forty-acre farm in the extreme northern limits of town.

Another Railway Fatality.

Wm. J. Frouzer, an inmate of the Yountville Veteran's Home, fell from a Southern Pacific train near Melitta last Monday evening and was killed. No one witnessed the accident and it can only be conjectured how it happened.

The old soldier, who was absent from the Home on a three-days' furlough, boarded the north-bound afternoon train at Napa Junction and just after passing Melitta he was missed from his seat in the smoker. Fearing that something had happened to the old man the conductor of the train as soon as it pulled into Santa Rosa sent a party of section men down the track on a handcar to search for the missing passenger. Owing to the darkness they failed to locate him. The next morning, however, the remains of Frouzer were discovered by two blockmakers lying in some bushes at the foot of an embankment alongside the track.

It is supposed that Frouzer, while attempting to pass from one car to another, lost his balance by the swerving of the train and pitched headlong to his death.

Napa Business and Professional Men Enjoy Big Feed Here.

A party of representative business and professional men of Napa arrived in town Sunday afternoon in seven automobiles and enjoyed a two-dollar a plate feed at the Toscano Hotel. Among those in the party were editors Geo. H. Francis and J. E. Walden, Dr. E. Z. Hennessey, G. W. Young, Ed. Kelton, Jos. Kronberg, Eugene Drussel, M. McIntyre, Dr. F. D. Watkins, Forrest Kelton, Edward Swan, H. S. Morse, C. E. Trower, F. L. Coombs, Percy Holman, W. F. Thompson, C. F. Grant, Wm. Ames, A. G. Prouty, E. H. Raymond, Dr. S. McL. Doughty, H. H. Whitton, Jas. Schuppert, A. Strauss, Ray Powers, Geo. Mowers, Wm. Gray, Ralph Raymond and Nathan Coombs.

Death of a Former Resident.

Mrs. M. Phelan, formerly of this place, died in Santa Rosa last Sunday morning at the age of 69 years. The deceased, with her husband, was the owner of the Eureka Hotel (now the Toscano) in this place twenty-five years ago, and will be remembered by many old residents as a good, kind-hearted woman.

RAILROAD TRAIN.

Tramp Goes to Sleep on Track Near Sobre Vista and is Run Over and Fatally Hurt.

An unknown man, tramping along the Southern Pacific railroad between Santa Rosa and this place, was run over by the south-bound Southern Pacific passenger train near Sobre Vista station Sunday morning and received injuries from which he died a few hours after receiving them.

The unfortunate man had gone to sleep on the track near a sharp bend in the road and was not seen by the engineer of the train until his engine was too close for him to put on the air brakes and stop the train in time to avoid striking the man, who is supposed to have been intoxicated.

When picked up the poor fellow was still alive, although his skull was caved in and he had received other injuries that precluded the possibility of recovery.

The injured man was carried as far as Suisun where he was taken in charge by the railroad's physician. His injuries were fatal, however, and he died Wednesday.

The Weather and Grapes.

The weather of the past week has been more than favorable to the wine grape crop, which is being picked and rushed to the wineries with all speed possible in anticipation of a continuation of the early rains which set in last month, but did no particular damage. The rainfall however, had a tendency to cause vineyardists to get busy, with the result that a small army of men have been at work all week in the various vineyards in this valley getting the grapes off the vines and hauling them to the many wineries in this place and vicinity. In another week or two the vintage will be about over. The floodgates of heaven can then be opened and the rain will be welcome.

Roads For Hyde Ranch Tract.

E. H. Johannsen has contracted with the Hyde tract promoters to construct two miles of road through the ranch which has been subdivided and put upon the market in five ten, twenty and forty acre tracts. Quite a number of the tracts have been sold to settlers who have already commenced to erect cottages on their holdings which in time will be put under a high state of cultivation. The soil on the Hyde ranch has the reputation of being the richest and deepest in the Sonoma Valley and will grow about everything that grows.

THRILLING ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Head-on Collision Between a Railroad Cycle and Freight Train Near Melitta.

Another fatal accident was narrowly averted near Melitta, the hoodoo station on the Southern Pacific, Monday afternoon. While roadmaster Crawford and his assistant M. S. Winton were speeding along the track on a railroad cycle en route to Vallejo, an extra freight train coming from the opposite direction unexpectedly rounded one of the sharp curves near Melitta and before the men had time to think, let alone make a jump for their lives, the ponderous freight engine bore down upon the little cycle and struck it a mighty blow, hurling it to one side. Roadmaster Crawford and his assistant were hurled high in the air but fortunately fell clear of the track, and what is remarkable both escaped with a slight shaking up. The cycle was completely demolished and relegated to the scrap pile.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
